Course Aims	This course offers you the opportunity to develop a deep and meaningful appreciation of the impact digital marketing has, locally and internationally, operationally, tactically and strategically. Marketing is the transformational economy writ large. You focus on strategic areas of branding and communication, digital media and social networking, and digital analytics all framed by the opportunity to complete a final capstone where you can opt for a traditional research dissertation or an experiential learning option (Professional Practice or Live Project). You develop the skills required to adopt appropriate strategic responses to different market environments. You understand the impact of contextual digital forces on international marketing and branding and being a marketing manager. You will also study the management and development of people in organisations and the use of relevant communications within the global economy. You appreciate how the digital economy affects both buying behaviour and marketing approaches. As well as specific knowledge relating to global business, you will develop enhanced personal and interpersonal skills. These include critical thinking, team working, problem solving, numeracy and quantitative skills, self-management and negotiation skills. At the end of this course, you will have the ability to use confidently your strategic and analytical skills to develop strategies to solve digital marketing problems.

The MSc in Digital Marketing is a specific course aimed at providing a comprehensive understanding of digital marketing and the digital transformational economy in the 21st century. It is both global and strategic in outlook, helping you understand the complex and dynamic world that is digital marketing. You learn how to reconcile operational, tactical and strategic approaches with a deep awareness of the impact that the digital world has had on how we consider marketing.

Your course will be delivered in a blocks format; this means you will undertake one unit at a time for 6 weeks and that will be a block of delivery. At the end of four blocks you will progress to the master's capstone experience stage where you will opt to complete either, a dissertation, a professional practice, or a live project unit. Each of these options will include an element of research methodology which is embedded within the unit. In order to undertake any of the capstone elements of this course you must have successfully completed 90 taught credits with the exception of the Professional Practice Unit for which you need to have completed all taught elements. Each Unit will include significant direct contact time but it will also require and provide time for individual reading and preparation for assessment. That will take place in weeks 3 and 6 of each block. By the end of this course you will appreciate the importance of marketing from branding in a national and global context, through to how digital marketing is framed.

If you have opted to enrol for the 15 month course, you will take a break of one block at the end of the four taught blocks. You will then progress to the master's capstone unit in block 6. The time to complete the master's capstone unit is not affected by taking a break at the end of the four taught blocks.

You will need to be active participants in the learning process in order to develop your knowledge and critical understanding of opportunities and issues regarding sustainable business management. At the same time, and throughout the course, you will be working on building up a number of transferable skills. Those are the ability to conduct high quality academic research, to identify questions that need to be addressed in both a professional and scientific way, to think critically when analysing, deduct when synthesizing, and to present your argument in a clear and concise manner as it is required for your success in this course but also as it will be expected by your future employers.

Your contribution to your own learning is pivotal. It is essential that, in order to maximise your benefit and to derive the best student experience, you must make optimum use of the time provided for individual learning. Direct contact times will be highly interactive and student preparation in advance is a key element for success. Starting in welcome week you will prepare for what will be an intensive delivery which will then be followed by your own individual learning and assessment.

The welcome week itself constitutes the first week of the professional achievement planning (hereinafter PAP) non-credit bearing unit that is an integral part of your course and is run in-between each of the four blocks of teaching and the Capstone. The PAP unit is designed to support your professional development and to provide you the skills to succeed in the workplace after graduation.

Your tutors are active researchers and they will guide you through this process by exposing you to the latest developments of the relevant subjects. Research-informed teaching is the basis for transforming a course into a unique student experience in an area of knowledge which is very dynamic in its evolution. Although the main concepts and theories might be following the structure of a textbook, you are expected to do a substantial amount of reading yourselves throughout the entire course. There will be both guided and independent reading and the information will be available to you through BREQ and your Unit Handbooks but in addition to this, you should read and research independently. The University's Virtual Learning Environment will be essential in your effort given the delivery method.
